On Sunday night last as the midnight express was rushing down toward Cincinnati, it ran into a stock car which the wind had blown from the side track to the main track at Custar, and had continued its travels about two miles from its proper location. The engineer could not see it in time and crashed into it, the collision throwing the engine, and express and mail cars from the track, and injuring engineer John Herbst and fireman, Mr. Harold, and the express messenger. The engineer was unable to extricate himself from the broken timbers of his cab, and was seriously, though not fatally, scalded about the lower portion of the body. He was removed from his position by the assistance of the train men and is doing well under medical treatment at his home in Lima.

The senior proprietor of this paper has been subject to frequent colds for some years, which were sure to lay him up if not doctored at once. He finds that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is reliable. It opens the secretions, relieves the lungs, and restores the system to a healthy condition. If freely used, as soon as the cold has been contracted, and before it has become settled in the system, it greatly lessens the attack, and often cures in a single day, what would otherwise have been a severe cold.
